Million $ Match - Give Now to Double the Impact

09/20/23 • COVID • BIG TECH › NEWS

UN President Approves Pandemic Declaration — Privacy Experts Warn of 'Digital Gulag'

Over the objections of 11 nations, the United Nations General Assembly president today approved a declaration on pandemic prevention that seeks to create a global pandemic authority. Critics said the declaration supports COVID-19-style restrictions, including "closing schools and disproportionately throwing women out of work and into poverty."

By Michael Nevradakis, Ph.D.

98

Miss a day, miss a lot. Subscribe to The Defender's Top News of the Day. It's free.

The United Nations (U.N.) General Assembly (UNGA) president today approved the non-binding U.N. declaration on Pandemic Prevention, Preparedness and Response (PPPR), without a full assembly vote and over the objections of 11 nations.

Critics called the declaration, which seeks to create a global pandemic authority with the power to enforce lockdowns, universal vaccination and censorship of "misinformation," "hypocrisy" and "unhinged."

The approval came as part of a high-level meeting on PPPR. But what does the declaration mean in practice?

For proponents, the declaration is a key step toward global coordination in pandemic prevention and public health.

According to the World Health Organization (WHO), it "presents an opportunity … to prevent and prepare for pandemics and their consequences, using an approach that involves all government sectors."

The WHO also said the PPPR aims to "apply lessons learned from the COVID-19 pandemic" and "comes as the world faces multiple humanitarian and climate-related crises which are threatening lives and livelihoods around the world."

In a statement, WHO Director-General Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus said, "If COVID-19 taught us nothing else, it's that when health is at risk, everything is at risk." He linked the PPPR to the U.N.'s Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), saying world leaders should "show they have learned the painful lessons of the pandemic."

Attorney Lawrence Gostin, head of Georgetown University's WHO Collaborating Center — a key figure "playing a key behind-the-scenes role in negotiations" for the proposed "pandemic treaty" and amendments to the International Health Regulations (2005) (IHR) — said the high-level meeting "is our best chance to gain support and deep engagement of heads of state and government."

Every Dollar has Twice the Impact: Support CHD's $1 Million Match Campaign
MILLION-DOLLAR-MATCH
DONATE TODAY

'Unprecedented' agreement comes at expense of national sovereignty

Other experts took a different view. Author and podcaster Frank Gaffney, founder and president of the Center for Security Policy, told The Defender it is "very worrying" that the U.N. and WHO "will further encourage, if not actually authorize, the kind of standing capability or authority on their part to essentially dictate what constitutes emergencies."

"There's no getting around the fact that it's going to come at the expense of the sovereignty of the various nations that will subsequently be told that they have an emergency and told what they have to do about it," he added. "This is unprecedented."

Gostin said "Negotiators are at a loss" as to how to balance accountability and sovereignty when implementing instruments like the PPPR, IHR or "pandemic treaty."

Writing for the Brownstone Institute, Dr. David Bell, a public health physician, biotech consultant and former director of Global Health Technologies at Intellectual Ventures Global Good Fund, said "the main aim" of the declaration "is to back" the "pandemic treaty" and IHR amendments currently under negotiation by WHO member states.

Bell said a "silence procedure" is in place, "meaning that States not responding will be deemed supporters of the text." He said the text is "clearly contradictory, sometimes fallacious, and often quite meaningless," and intended to centralize the WHO's power.

Bell told The Defender, "The declaration was not written with serious intent, but is essentially empty rhetoric promoting a continued centralization of control that the U.N. and WHO are openly seeking, at the expense of democracy, human rights and equality."

Francis Boyle, J.D., Ph.D., a bioweapons expert and professor of international law at the University of Illinois who drafted the Biological Weapons Anti-Terrorism Act of 1989, agreed. "The same people who drafted the pandemic treaty and the IHR amendments drafted the PPPR document," Boyle told The Defender.

"This is a full-court press to have the entirety of the United Nations Organization, its specialized agencies and its affiliated organizations, back up and support their proposed globalist WHO worldwide totalitarian medical and scientific police state," he said.

Today's high-level meeting included scheduled speeches from 158 national representatives, including the presidents or prime ministers of 34 countries and, representing the U.S., Secretary of State Anthony Blinken.

Panelists included German Minister of Health Dr. Karl Lauterbach and representatives of the Biotechnology Innovation Organization.

RFK Jr. and Brian Hooker's New Book: "Vax-Unvax"

What does the declaration mean for you?

The final text of the PPPR political declaration, dated Sept. 1, includes statements and proposals covering a range of issues, from vaccination to so-called "misinformation."

According to the declaration, "pandemics call for timely, urgent and continued leadership, global solidarity, increased international cooperation and multilateral commitment … to implement coherent and robust national, regional and global actions, driven by science … to strengthen pandemic prevention, preparedness and response."

Stating that "health is a precondition for all" and an indicator of "sustainable development," the declaration calls for:

- Universal vaccination: The declaration expresses "deep concern" about declining global vaccination rates, and includes a commitment supporting "research and development of vaccines and medicines, as well as preventive measures and treatments for communicable and non-communicable diseases."

  "Routine immunization is one of the most efficient and cost-effective public health interventions with the greatest reach and demonstrated health outcomes," the declaration states, while highlighting the "important role played by the private sector in research and development of innovative medicines," including vaccines.

  It calls for the improvement of "routine immunization, vaccination and outreach capacities, including by providing evidence-based information on promoting confidence, uptake, demand" and "expand[ing] vaccine coverage to prevent outbreaks as well as the spread and re-emergence of communicable diseases."
- Makes "temporary" COVID-19 powers permanent: The declaration expresses "concern with the continued emergence and re-emergence of epidemic-prone diseases," stating "the need … to build on the lessons learned and best practices from the COVID-19 pandemic," including "turning, where appropriate, temporarily scaled up capacities" developed during the pandemic "into permanent capacities in a sustainable manner."
- Calls for increased surveillance and digital health documents, such as vaccine passports: The declaration "recognize[s] … the potential of digital health technologies" in "implementing and supporting health measures and bolstering national response efforts" to pandemics and health emergencies.

  Digital technologies such as vaccine passports are a key component of the under-negotiation IHR amendments. The declaration, in turn, also states a need for "early warning systems" and "an integrated One Health approach," for "the earliest and most adequate response" to pandemics and health emergencies.
- Potential social media censorship: The declaration expresses "concern that health-related misinformation and disinformation negatively impacted routine immunization services globally."

  Accordingly, the declaration calls for "measures to counter and address the negative impacts of health-related misinformation, disinformation, hate speech and stigmatization, especially on social media platforms … including countering vaccine hesitancy … and to foster trust in public health systems and authorities."
- Calls for "pandemic treaty" and IHR amendments to be finalized: The declaration "encourages" the conclusion of negotiations on the IHR amendments and the "pandemic treaty," suggesting that this will ensure "the sustainable, affordable, fair, equitable, effective, efficient and timely access to medical countermeasures," including vaccines.
- You will pay for this: The declaration "Welcome[s] the launch of the Pandemic Fund" to "finance critical investments" for pandemic preparedness and response, at a cost of $30 billion per year. This price tag includes an "estimated gap of $10 billion in new external financing per year outside current official development assistance levels" — namely, dues paid by WHO member states.

According to Bell, "The WHO noted in 2019 that pandemics are rare, and insignificant in terms of overall mortality over the last century" but, "The WHO and the entire U.N. system now consider pandemics an existential and imminent threat."

He said this is important, because "They are asking for far more money than is spent on any other international health program," which will "deliver great wealth to some people" and great powers for governments, which can be used to "reimpose the very responses that have just caused the largest growth in poverty and disease in our lifetimes."

"Logically, pandemics will only become more frequent if someone intends to make them so (so we should wonder what is going on)," Bell wrote.

Bell said that while the declaration pays lip service to issues such as women's rights and education, it contradicts itself by supporting COVID-19-style restrictions, including "closing schools and disproportionately throwing women out of work and into poverty."

Independent journalist James Roguski told The Defender, "The vast harms that have been caused by approved therapeutics and injections make the hypocrisy" of the declaration's calls for "greater access" to vaccines "absolutely astonishing."

"If the WHO was still about improving overall health, they would obviously not be involved in this as it is contrary to good public health policy," Bell said.

Gostin said misinformation "poses a serious health threat, especially in vaccine distribution," adding, "Balancing free speech with combating misinformation is challenging" and that the "WHO can lead partnerships between scientific experts and information disseminators to ensure credible information reaches the public."

Bell, however, disagreed with this view, writing, "The WHO recently publicly characterized people who discuss adverse effects of COVID vaccines and question WHO policies as 'far-right,' 'anti-science aggressors,' and 'a killing force,'" adding that "This is unhinged. It is the denigration and hate speech that fascist regimes use."

Yet, for Gostin, the PPPR declaration isn't enough. "It is wholly inadequate on concrete action, such as pledges for funding health systems," he said, adding "There has been too little cooperation between the U.N. and WHO."

"The Wuhan Cover-Up" by Robert F. Kennedy Jr.
ORDER NOW

11 countries opposed declaration

Consensus on the PPPR is not universal. In a Sept. 17 letter to Dennis Francis, president of the UNGA, co-signed by the representatives of 11 countries, "legitimate concerns" were raised "of a large number of developing countries have been ignored."

The 11 countries are Belarus, Bolivia, Cuba, the Democratic People's Republic of Korea, Eritrea, the Islamic Republic of Iran, Nicaragua, the Russian Federation, the Syrian Arab Republic, Venezuela and Zimbabwe.

Their letter broke the "silence procedure," stating, "Our delegations are convinced that this is no way to handle multilateral and intergovernmental negotiations on issues of great relevance for the international community, particularly for developing countries."

It added that "no consensus has been reached on any of these processes." However, the letter does not contain specific objections to the content of the PPPR declaration.

According to Boyle, the 11 nations' objections should "prevent this declaration being adopted by consensus and thus arguably becoming part of customary international law, which is what those behind the declaration intend."

"They could not get it through the UNGA as a Consensus Resolution because of the 11 objecting states," Boyle said. "They are trying to spin it and misrepresent it," he said, by having the UNGA president — not the UNGA — approve the declaration.

Gates-supported organization pushed for PPPR declaration

In addition to national representatives, organizations like Gavi, the Vaccine Alliance — recognized as a stakeholder and "observer" by the WHO — also participated in today's meeting.

Gavi proclaims a mission to "save lives and protect people's health," and states it "helps vaccinate almost half the world's children against deadly and debilitating infectious diseases."

The Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation is a partner of Gavi and holds a permanent seat on its board — as do the WHO, UNICEF and the World Bank.

Gavi described this year's UNGA as "a sobering milestone" on the path toward meeting the 2030 target date for the SDGs, and said the high-level meeting is "a one-time and historic opportunity for leaders to adopt a whole-of-government, whole-of-society, global approach to addressing pandemic threats."

"By taking lessons from the acute phase of the pandemic, the moment is imminent to shape a more responsive and resilient system," Gavi said, adding that "urgent action is needed to fulfill the SDG3 [health and well-being] targets and reach all children with life-saving vaccines."

Gavi also assigned itself a role in this process, stating, "There should also be a prominent role for specialised agencies such as Gavi, building on technical expertise and lessons from the response to the COVID-19 pandemic to achieve health equity."

Bell said Gavi is an example of an organization that was not "negatively impacted" by the COVID-19 catastrophe. "People and corporations who sponsor much of the WHO's health emergency work, and that of its sister organizations such as CEPI, Gavi, and Unitaid, did very well from the policies they advocated so strongly for," he wrote.

PPPR envisions 'digital gulag,' negotiated in 'secrecy'

Gaffney, who is hosting a webinar today relating to proposals to expand vaccine passports and grant the WHO more power, said PPPR is part of a broader power grab by the WHO and U.N., including proposals expected to be discussed at the U.N. in September 2024, to grant the U.N. secretary-general indefinite emergency powers.

"Both the U.N. and WHO envision this kind of digital gulag as an underpinning mechanism for exercising that kind of authority, and specifically the ability of those entities to dictate what must be done in response to whatever they decide is a crisis, health-related or otherwise," Gaffney said. "This is the thing that's very alarming to me."

Dr. Michel Kazatchkine, a French physician and diplomat and member of the team that drafted the PPPR declaration, said the declaration and the proposal to grant the U.N. secretary-general emergency powers are linked.

According to Roguski, the PPPR declaration is one of "four tracks that are important to pay attention to right now" — along with the IHR amendments adopted in May 2022, which he says "need to be rejected by the end of November," the new IHR amendments and the "pandemic treaty" (formally named the WHO CA+ Framework Convention).

Roguski told The Defender that the May 2024 target date for adoption of the IHR amendments and "pandemic treaty" at the WHO's World Health Assembly is in jeopardy due to the objecting nations — a view shared by Gostin, who said the May 2024 deadline is "pushing it" but noting that "the reason for speed is compelling."

Roguski said the PPPR negotiations were conducted in "secrecy" and noted the PPPR declaration "is silent" regarding efforts to develop a Global Digital Health Certification Network — which would establish a global framework for "vaccine passports" and other types of health certificates to be implemented.

Roguski said that rather than calling for gain-of-function research to end, the PPPR supports funding WHO efforts "to implement a Pathogen Access and Benefits Sharing System." He said this "increases the risk of the spread of deadly pathogens, by design."

According to the PPPR declaration, a high-level meeting reviewing progress on PPPR implementation will be held in New York in 2026. Other health-related high-level meetings at the UNGA this week focus on universal health coverage and tuberculosis.

Subscribe to The Defender – It's Free!
First Name.. Last Name.. Email.. SIGN UP

SUGGEST A CORRECTION

Michael Nevradakis, Ph.D.
Michael Nevradakis, Ph.D., based in Athens, Greece, is a senior reporter for The Defender and part of the rotation of hosts for CHD.TV's "Good Morning CHD."

Sign up for free news and updates from Children's Health Defense. CHD focuses on legal strategies to defend the health of our children and obtain justice for those injured. We can't do it without your support

Republishing Guidelines

Children's Health Defense Comment Policy
We welcome relevant and respectful comments. Off-topic comments may be removed.
Please read our Comment Policy before commenting.
Got it

Donate Now
You make the difference.

Latest News

- Family Investigated for Keeping Teen Home After School-Based Health Center Gave 17-Year-Old a Bag of Unlabeled Zoloft
- Fauci Secretly Met With CIA to 'Influence' COVID Origins Investigation, House Republican Alleges
- Vaccines Grown in Lettuce? Rep. Massie Asks House to Bar FDA, USDA From Funding Transgenic Edible Vaccines

MORE NEWS

Latest Views

- What Are They Hiding? Government COVID Vaccine Contracts Shrouded in Secrecy
- The Global Food System Is Broken. Here's How to Fix It.
- 1950s Propaganda Exposes How Polio Vaccine Was Made

MORE VIEWS

Get FREE News & Updates!
First Name..
Last Name..
Email..
SIGN UP

Get Text Alerts
Sign up for breaking news from The Defender.
Currently only eligible for numbers in the U.S. and Canada.
1234567890
Phone
REQUIRED. Phone number must be in a standard 10-digit format: 1234567890 or 123-456-7890
CONTINUE

98 Comments Login ▾

Join the discussion…

LOG IN WITH OR SIGN UP WITH DISQUS Name

15 • Share Best Newest Oldest

Dennis
8 days ago
Time to shut down the Un along with the WHO. Oh and by the way, millions of us will never comply with your mandates. Pound sand.
51 0 Reply • Share ›

TruthHunter → Dennis
7 days ago
Seems to me that Trump either removed us from the UN, or wanted to, but all he ever received was hate and sabotage. I haven't heard what R. Kennedy's thought on that is, but removal from this monstrosity of evil is needed if we can get a real president with respect for life.
16 0 Reply • Share ›

Bubba Gump → TruthHunter
7 days ago
Trump removed us from WHO which is part the UN so, same thing. All of this was planned decades ago.
10 0 Reply • Share ›

MultiChubby1 → TruthHunter
7 days ago
RFK does not respect the lives of the unborn, which we all were at some point. You can't have it both ways. I have no respect for anyone who believes that children are so valuable, but if any of those children happen to be 8" higher into the birth canal, it is OK to dismember them alive.
4 5 Reply • Share ›

Flow Keeper → MultiChubby1
4 days ago
Truth is... we are not "alive" until we can breathe...and it is with the first breath we take that the soul enters the body. The "wind of life" happens shortly before or shortly after birth. If it does not happen, it is a still birth.
1 5 Reply • Share ›

brbg → Flow Keeper
3 days ago
A child is alive at the moment of conception. This has been scientifically determined years ago. If course, those of us who know and love the Lord were aware of this from the beginning. Apparently you don't even believe a beating heart indicates life
2 1 Reply • Share ›

Nichole → Flow Keeper
3 days ago
I have a hard time accepting this because I have delivered five children and with each one I craved different foods that each child later on had a preference for that food.

One could say it was me that was craving the foods that I just wanted for whatever reason during that time period or one could say that the child wanted that particular food. My son loves hamburgers, I was not someone who ate red meat when he was conceived, but because of potentially his intense craving for this food I began to eat hamburgers while I was pregnant with him.

I remember when he was just an infant and not yet able to eat solid foods and I was eating a hamburger with him in my lap, he snatched it out of my hand and took a huge bite out of it, by then I was eating every sort of meat because I feel he was craving it from inside the womb somehow to such an extant that it became a habit for me.

see more
1 0 Reply • Share ›

Flow Keeper → Nichole
2 days ago
Yes! There is a deep connection between mother and child. A mother not only serves as a nurturing place for the physical body of a child to grow, but also as a powerful attractor of the human soul which will eventually flow into that body... and completely enable the child's body to stand on it's own... breathe on it's own. Life requires not only the physical be present but also the non-physical... soul be present. Until the child takes it's first breath, there is an exchange going on between the mother's soul and the potential child's soul. Until that final moment when the first breath is taken, either the mother or the child's soul may decide to abort and the result will be a still birth... even if there was every reason (medically) to believe the child would be born healthy, even if there was a heartbeat detected and movement of the body. Human life requires a soul be present. At the moment of death, the soul leaves the body... and continues on in the non-physical realm. The physical is temporary... much like a cloak that one wears and discards eventually. The non-physical never dies. The soul is sovereign and forever alive and connected with all life.
0 0 Reply • Share ›

SHENZI → Flow Keeper
4 days ago
Thank you for your intelligence. The soul is in charge and is always alive and well. That's how our magnificent creator set it up. Life is not the body.
Much ado about nothing.
Blessed Be.✨✨✨
1 0 Reply • Share ›

Paul → Flow Keeper
3 days ago
God "knit us together while we were still in the womb"
0 0 Reply • Share ›

akamsroberts → Flow Keeper
3 days ago
You are not thinking spiritually at all. Adam came alive when God breathed the "breath of life" into him, and then AFTER THAT began to breathe oxygen, may have been shortly after but it was still after. That "breath of life" was a part of our creator who gave Adam his eternal soul through this action of "breath of life". The soul has to be present for there to be life. When you go to a funeral what do you see? A lifeless body... that's because the soul has left the body for it's eternal home. Irregardless of heaven or hell, the soul lives on for eternity. Hence, as the Bible states, we being made in His (God's Image) likeness and thus the soul is passed on at the point of creation of any human being, just as everything else (DNA for our physical body) is as well. Therefore, making conception the point in which we acquire our eternal soul.
0 0 Reply • Share ›

CATRYNA49 → Dennis
7 days ago
Eventually both will be destroyed.
3 0 Reply • Share ›

GarySummers → Dennis
3 days ago
FYI:
2 0 Reply • Share ›

Beatrice → GarySummers
3 days ago
Perfect. Frightening. Believe it or not, I've never taken a selfie. I guess that makes me a weirdo but when I see this woman, I feel the embarrassment that she should be feeling!!! These idiots have no shame at all!!
0 0 Reply • Share ›

GS
8 days ago
This cabal of devils are not the problem. The devils in DC who go along with it are. Do not comply. "No one ever complied their way out of tyranny", said many people in the past.
38 0 Reply • Share ›

notaluvvie
8 days ago
I seem to have forgotten when I voted for these totalitarians.

26 0 Reply • Share ›

Naga ➔ notaluvvie
8 days ago edited

You voted for the representatives who are brought and paid for by them, THAT'S who we voted for. We need to demand a ban to lobbyist and we also need to demand term limits on all government officials. These AHes will sell their mother up the river, as their greed knows no bounds, just like the pharmaceutical companies they are currently protecting while ripping us off paying for so called vaccines which are really lethal injections. Now, you don't even need to be in prison to get a death sentence. They simply force a bioweapon on you. Who knew? Well, sorry to say, I DID. These are some very evil people. All behind this deserve to die.

14 0 Reply • Share ›

TruthHunter ➔ Naga
7 days ago

Good points! Matt Geatz is trying to get the House to pass bills on some of these good points - but too many Uniparty and RINOs and others with no backbone to do what's right.

10 0 Reply • Share ›

Greebo ➔ Naga
6 days ago

It does not matter who we vote for IF we do not make out voting process tamper proof!!
It does no good for those with difficulty getting an ID if we ALL are taken over by enemies hijacking our votes. We could send teams to these people to verify their qualifications a LOT cheaper and more efficiently that mailing millions of ballots to fake addresses. Our enemies will fight tooth an nail but it is our only chance to restore our Constitutional Republic peacefully. We are all talking about voting but NOT about making our votes count!
"It is enough that the people know there was an election. The people who cast the votes decide nothing. The people who count the votes decide everything." Josef Stalin

4 0 Reply • Share ›

Beatrice ➔ Greebo
3 days ago

I agree. When I began voting many moons ago, we had a little piece of paper with circles we filled in with a no. 2 pencil. We need to get back to that method but who in the world would be hired to count those ballots? I mean, the average worker today can barely flip a burger.

1 0 Reply • Share ›

unacceptable views ➔ Naga
7 days ago

"We", no. You voted for the reps, I didn't. I don't vote for my own enslavement.

2 0 Reply • Share ›

Robert Sagramati ➔ Naga
7 days ago

Excellent "diagnose" of the reality of the situation and issue!!
Unfortunately "WE" who can "SEE" represent only 20/25% of the Population, even though and after their failed "first attempt" many more HAVE OPENED their eyes and saw what really happened, the consequences and aftermath of this planned genocide and power grab and control of the world, we're maybe now at 30/35%. I'm confident that as "they" start to implement their draconian "laws", many more will wake up and hopefully NOT COMPLT. It's our only possibility and chance.

2 0 Reply • Share ›

SHENZI ➔ Robert Sagramati
4 days ago

Never doubt that a small group of thoughtful, committed citizens can change the world; indeed, it's the only thing that ever has.

Margaret Mead

2 0 Reply • Share ›

Beatrice ➔ Naga
3 days ago

These types of people should never get elected in the first place. If Americans were not so utterly stupid, shallow and gullible to their marketing (empty campaign promises) they wouldn't get elected. As far as terms go.......as long as someone is doing a good job, I don't care how long they are in office but those who are doing a bad job shouldn't be allowed to remain in office. You had your chance, you're fired!

0 0 Reply • Share ›

Ektor
8 days ago

Not going along with any of this.

35 1 Reply • Share ›

CastleConnell ➔ Ektor
8 days ago

What if you want to travel though and need a vax passport to do so? They will restrict us and we may not comply but we will pay one way or another.

8 0 Reply • Share ›

seahawk ➔ CastleConnell
8 days ago

Not being able to travel will be the least of your worries I assure you.

16 0 Reply • Share ›

Robert Sagramati ➔ CastleConnell
7 days ago

You don't travel and don't comply Simple. It's not possible that in today's world and after so many world conflicts ALL for PEACE. LIBERTY and FREEDOM, that these Tyrants are trying to bring back what our Fathers and Forefathers fought and DIED FOR in order NOT TO LET THAT HAPPEN AGAIN!! There are many and lots more of US people than "them" the Tyrants! They are carrying on and continuing with what "somebody" back in WW2 did not finish and accomplish!!! Wonder WHY they don't TEACH HISTORY in schools and rather push Gender and other distracting issues while they secretly plan, organize, and decide "amongst themselves" of how humanity needs to "continue living". (well at least for those that will comply or be left alive)

11 0 Reply • Share ›

Solani Someni ➔ Robert Sagramati
6 days ago

We are also MANY in other countries besides the USA that will NOT comply and did not comply last time around either. NEVER give in! NEVER give up your RIGHTS, to govern your own body. It is YOUR body, not theirs...

Yes, we will most likely be hit with some sort of punishment, such as not being able to travel. What is the point of travel if you are not alive? Not take part in societies functions. They most likely will use food and daily necessities as a weapon as well but, I do believe that we are so many across the world that just will NOT comply with their so called laws, made by non elected individuals/groups, that what they are doing, will fall flat on its face!!
Pureblood forever!!
//Solani

2 0 Reply • Share ›

SHENZI ➔ Solani Someni
4 days ago

We can grow our own food in small backyard gardens and create community gardens and co-ops with eggs, local dairy, fish and meats. We can boycott the corporations and use Naturopathic practitioners, herbs and supplements for our health.
There much we can do on a grassroots level and much we MUST do.
at the current time the changes will not come from the top down or from the ground up from US THE PEOPLE.
has John Lennon said all those years ago, "it's the people that hold all the power of the people don't know they have the power. They think "Oh, let the father do it." The government works for US not the other way around.

POWER TO THE PEOPLE!! ✊🏾💪🇺🇸💖🌍💖🌈✨🙏✨🌅

3 0 Reply • Share ›

Robert Sagramati ➔ Solani Someni
6 days ago

Excellent Solani, totally agree and hopefully many more will as all this Scam and truth behind this genocide comes to surface more and more daily!! As we can now see, "they" are simply IGNORING us all even with the Truth in front of their faces, and go about "their plans" as if nothing is happening. Well, as far as I am concerned, I am and many others like "us" behave the same as them, imply IGNORE, NOT COMPLY NOE OBEY the Tyrants Agenda and Programs!! If they can't get the majority in "cuffs", nothing is going to come out of the ESG Scam agenda, in order to lock and control us all!

1 0 Reply • Share ›

CATRYNA49 ➔ CastleConnell
7 days ago

No matter what decision we make there will be consequences, but at least one way we will have retained our integrity and dignity.

7 0 Reply • Share ›

jupiteralliance ➔ CastleConnell
2 days ago

I'll stay home rather than subject myself to harmful jabs.

0 0 Reply • Share ›

CastleConnell ➔ jupiteralliance
2 days ago

Yes, but look at the price, if you have a child in another country and can never go to see them, and if they don't take the shot, they can't come to you. This is the type of coercion they will exert. It should make us do more than just simply not comply, at this level of punishment, we need to work and support lawsuits that won't allow this to happen.

0 0 Reply • Share ›

el Gallinazo
8 days ago

Make no mistake. The United Nations is the enemy of the human race and has been since the Rockefeller family donated to them their very expensive land in Manhattan to build their headquarters.

16 0 Reply • Share ›

Robert Sagramati ➔ el Gallinazo
7 days ago

Yes, very well said and TRUE!! Too bad there aren't many more of us that KNOW HISTORY or OUR History, and THAT is why they don't teach these issues in schools anymore in order not to "reveal" the origins of these Totalitarian, Evil Dictators that are trying to continue, force, and finish "WHAT SOMEONE" wanted to do back in late 30's and early 40's but failed! Rather and to "distract" all, they are pushing Gender in schools and keep the rest "busy" with all the other ESG issues, while they secretly plan and try to put all in play. It's going to be a great fight!!

4 0 Reply • Share ›

Beatrice ➔ Robert Sagramati
5 days ago

The ignorant progressives of this nation don't even know what communism is much less, who fought in the civil war (one student thought France did) so, they don't realize they are being used as instruments of destruction in order to fulfill the NWO's communist agenda. I often wonder what they will think when they are 50 or 60 and realize what they have done.

2 0 Reply • Share ›

jann ➔ Beatrice
4 days ago

Yes. It's up to we, the adults and parents, to fight back, restore history and remove woke in education. PA has a bill to teach the evils of communism. We need to get involved with our legislators.

1 0 Reply • Share ›

Beatrice ➔ jann
4 days ago

What do you mean that PA has a bill to teach about communism? You mean that it's not allowed to be taught in a government class?

0 0 Reply • Share ›

jann ➔ Beatrice
4 days ago

Beatrice, I don't remember the exact language but I think it is to ensure that the negative side of communism is taught. As far as I know, communism is not prohibited from being taught. One reason that schools are teaching woke because it is required at the federal level as a criteria for receiving COVID ESSR funds. If I can find the bill, I'll post it. It's also being hidden in other curricula. https://www.theepochtimes.c...

0 0 Reply • Share ›

Beatrice ➔ jann
4 days ago

I think I found the bill you're referring to:
https://www.kennedy.senate....

0 0 Reply • Share ›

jann ➔ Beatrice
4 days ago

I forgot to add a "thank you" for finding that bill. I contact my state reps about other issues but I may contact my U.S. senator about Sen. Kennedy's bill. I suggest that those of us that are able to, do the same.

1 0 Reply • Share ›

jann ➔ Beatrice
4 days ago

I seem to remember a bill just for PA but it's good news that a federal bill has been proposed. Let's hope Congress has the good sense to agree to this.

1 0 Reply • Share ›

Beatrice ➔ jann
4 days ago

Unbelievable. I'm all too well aware of the ESSR and other evil woke activities going on in the schools but I am shocked that any government teacher today would ignore educating about communism. It wasn't too long ago that I posted about my HS

Children's Health Defense® is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization. Our mission is to end childhood health epidemics by working aggressively to eliminate harmful exposures, hold those responsible accountable and establish safeguards to prevent future harm. We fight corruption, mass surveillance and censorship that put profits before people as well as advocate for worldwide rights to health freedom and bodily autonomy.

THE DEFENDER IS AVAILABLE IN:

ENGLISH SPANISH PORTUGUESE GERMAN ITALIAN FRENCH

TAKE ACTION

DONATE FREE SIGN-UP BECOME A MEMBER

Donations are tax deductible to the full extent of the law. EIN #26-0388604

© 2016 - 2023 Children's Health Defense® • All Rights Reserved • Sitemap